APPEAL CASE NO. 813 OF 2025

Present : (i) None for the appellant
(ii) For the respondent-Sh Sunil Kumar, Clerk (9988907805)

ORDER

This order may be read with reference to the previous order dated 19.08.2026 vide which an opportunity was given to both the parties.

2. The appellant is not present today.

3. The perusal of the case file shows that the appellant is neither present today. Despite repeated opportunities, the appellant neither appeared before the Commission nor informed any valid reason for his absence. The appellant's non-response indicates a clear lack of interest in pursuing this matter. This conduct leads to wastage of the Commission's limited time and public resources, adversely impacting the timely disposal of other cases and prejudicing the interests of other litigants. Hence, The Commission is of considered view that an appellant who invokes the appellate jurisdiction of the Commission is expected to diligently pursue the matter by participating in the proceedings. In view of the above, no useful purpose would be served by granting further adjournments, hence, no further intervention of the Commission is called for. Therefore, the appeal case filed by the appellant is disposed of and closed. Copy of the orders be sent to the parties.

APPEAL CASE NO. 4586 OF 2025

Present : None for the parties

ORDER

This order may be read with reference to the previous order dated 24.06.2026 passed by the Commission. On the last date of hearing, none of the parties appeared before the Commission.

2. Today, again neither the appellant nor the respondent is present. The appellant has submitted his written submissions before the Commission. The submissions filed by the appellant have been perused and taken on record.

3. The respondent has also subsequently filed a reply before the Commission. The reply submitted by the respondent has also been perused and taken on record. In the said reply, the respondent has stated the action taken in respect of the information sought by the appellant and has also referred to the action already undertaken by the concerned office in the matter.

4. The Commission has considered the submissions of the appellant as well as the reply filed by the respondent. From the material available on record, it appears that the grievance raised by the appellant has been duly considered by the respondent and the requisite action/information has been dealt with in the reply filed before the Commission.

5. Since both the written submissions of the appellant and the subsequent reply of the respondent are on record, and no further effective grievance survives for adjudication in the present appeal, the Commission finds no justification for keeping the matter pending. Accordingly, the present appeal is disposed of. Copy of the order be sent to the parties.

proceedings. Mere filing of written submissions, without attending the hearing despite repeated opportunities , does not justify keeping the appeal pending indefinitely. The Commission has carefully perused the record available on file. It is observed that the only surviving issue in this case was that the information pertaining to point no.'s 3 and 7 were not provided to the appellant. The appellant has also intimated the same through his submissions. However, on the last date of hearing the information pertaining to point no.'s 3 and 7 was sent to the appellant along with the orders. Today again the respondent no. 2 has brought the copy of the information pertaining to point no's 3 and 7. The perusal of the case file shows that the respondent had provided the information to the appellant. The appellant has submitted that he had already pointed out the deficiencies and that the information supplied by the respondent continues to be incomplete. He has also forwarded written submissions through e-mail, which have been taken on record. The Commission has carefully perused the said submissions. However, the contents thereof are neither in the nature of a proper rejoinder to the respondent's reply nor do they clearly indicate the specific deficiencies which allegedly continue to persist. The submissions are vague and repetitive in nature and do not meaningfully assist the Commission in determining the exact information which, according to the appellant, remains undisclosed.

5. The Commission is of the considered view that proceedings under the RTI Act cannot be permitted to continue indefinitely merely on account of generalized allegations regarding incomplete information. Once the respondent has furnished a detailed response and the appellant has failed to specifically demonstrate, despite repeated opportunities, as to which information continues to be withheld, no useful purpose would be served by keeping the matter pending any further.

6. The Commission further observes that the appellant has been asserting that the information supplied is deficient; however, despite being granted adequate opportunity, he has failed to place before the Commission a clear, specific and cogent rejoinder identifying the precise deficiencies which continue to survive after receipt of the respondent's point-wise reply. Such conduct has unnecessarily prolonged the adjudication of the present appeal.

7. In view of the foregoing discussion and the material available on record, the Commission finds no ground warranting further intervention in the matter. Therefore, the appeal case filed by the appellant is disposed of and closed. Copy of the orders be sent to the parties.
